Ireland

Ireland or Republic of Ireland is an independent state. It has been part of the United Kingdom from 1801 until 1922 when the "Irish Free State" has been officially recognised.

The population of Ireland is 4,470 million. The official languages are English and Irish. The capital of the island is Dublin. The Irish flag is green, white and orange. Ireland is famous all over the world for its beer "Guinness" and for its typical folk music, but also for its unsettled weather. The national sport is rugby. Moreover many famous writers are Irish: the most known are James Joyce, Oscar Wilde and Samuel Beckett. But Ireland is famous above all for its landscape and its typical characteristic towns. In fact it is said that once you visit Ireland, you can't forget it.

The symbols of Ireland are the Shamrock (1), the Celtic cross (2), the Claddagh's ring (3) and the harp (4).

The capital, Dublin, with its narrow roads, its pubs - the most known is Temple Bar that gives also the name to the street - and the Trinity College, is visited by thousands of tourists every month. On the 17th of March it is celebrated St. Patrick, the patron-saint of Ireland. This is a huge feast all over Ireland and there is also a way of saying about it: "Everyone is Irish on the 17th of March!". In this day you can feel more than ever the Irish spirit and atmosphere. Far from the cities there are also monastic sites and castles that are maintained as national monuments.
